[illegible] Prophets Preach Social Revolution in the Name of God

[illegible] the days of Samuel, owing to the bad [illegible] and constant encroachments of the pe[illegible] nations around them, and the greedy, cor[illegible] rulers of his own sons, the Hebrew people [illegible] to establish a monarchy; but Samuel [illegible] in the name of Jehovah and warned [illegible] of the evil results that would follow such [illegible] policy. And God comforted Samuel,

[illegible] have not rejected thee; but they have [illegible] Me." (1 Samuel 8.)

[illegible] is everlastingly opposed to kings.

[illegible] fifth chapter of Habakkuk shows how [illegible] and how firmly the great restorer [illegible] City and Temple at Jerusalem rebuked [illegible] for the [illegible] grinding of the poor, [illegible] and profit, [illegible] the oppressors by showing what they [illegible] if the prophecies should speak that [illegible] there would arise [illegible] a new regime [illegible].

[illegible] prophecies of Daniel, recorded in Dan. [illegible] and 7:13-27, unequivocally proclaim a [illegible] revolution that shall overwhelm all [illegible] of Mammon and establish the [illegible] Kingdom of God over all the earth [illegible] and the prophecy of Zechariah (Chap. [illegible] definitely shows that this shall be a [illegible] people [illegible] shall get possession

[illegible]

[illegible] God's law holds true and His [illegible] will not fail. "The wicked shall be [illegible] Hell and all the nations that for[illegible] God." And a day cometh "which shall [illegible] as an oven" with the fires of revolutionary [illegible], according to Malachi, Zechariah and [illegible].

[illegible]

[illegible] Father

1. The father gives life. God is the [illegible] of our being. We are the workmanship of His [illegible] life, of His infinite Love and Omnipotent Power. He created us. He wanted us. We were, in this high and holy sense, actually created for His Glory! And we are dear unto Him—far dearer and nearer than the child to any earthly parent.

2. The father provides food, clothes and shelter for his children. If he did not, he would be an unnatural, a monstrous father.

And God has provided a world full of wealth for us, so that there is enough for hundreds of times the present population of the earth. It is not God's fault that anyone lacks; and in this age of machine production and rapid transportation it is a blank social crime—downright robbery and murder—for anyone to suffer want and die of neglect.

3. The father educates and disciplines his children; and so God, seeing the end from the beginning, and desiring to develop great, strong, wise, loving, glorious sons and daughters of God, was willing to educate and discipline us, even at the expense of pain to Him and to us; and therefore He crushed and ground us together in a common slavery, want and woe, as He did the children of Israel in Egypt and the scattered Hebrews for the last two thousand years, in order, by [illegible] of economic determinism itself, to teach, discipline and force us to cooperate [illegible] sympathy, by common work and [illegible] real spirit and philosophy of brotherhood and love between nations and [illegible] as expressed in the Socialist Commonwealth, a practical Co-operative Commonwealth, a [illegible] Commonwealth, [illegible] and [illegible] Commonwealth, [illegible] Commonwealth, [illegible] Commonwealth,

...of the workers of the world, if the [illegible] ...
...nothing can end the "social unrest" and misery of the masses except the complete overthrow of capitalism. And this can only be accomplished by the collective ownership and use of the means of producing and distributing wealth. Industrial and political democracy—Socialism—must take the place of plutocracy. Production must be for use only, not for profit. The irresponsible system of competition must give way to general co-operation on equal terms.

II. SURPLUS VALUE INEVITABLY CREATES MONOPOLY AND TYRANNY

That part of the surplus value produced by labor which escapes the hateful waste of competition goes to enrich the master class, many of whom are fabulously rich, and all of whom must pool their issues in various investments.

It is not the wealth—in houses, furniture, automobiles, gold, silver, etc.—that the rich are actually possessed of, for the people only allow them use of these commodities by paying them enough to bring a handsome interest income, to enable them to live in luxury and idleness. They must invest their surplus wealth in order to make it "productive," in a private way by employing men or people in exploitation of these resources, else their wealth would soon be consumed and they would have to work or starve. Therefore practically all the wealthy persons join the ranks of bigger forces of bankers, railroads, mines, mills, etc., in the form of investments, where wealth may be increased. Thus people "live upon their money."

And it cannot be denied that the effort of the rich, both small and great, to keep their property invested, that they might live luxuriously, comfortably and leisurely, and the method of promoting corporations to gather their investments into growing enterprises of [illegible] profits they might obtain [illegible] ...at the same time, produce very [illegible] ...ing.

And so it will be "some sweet day." ...as a child of six years cannot be expected to know all that is familiar to a man ...fifty, our race one hundred years ago could ...reasonably have been expected to know ...we know now. The Live Ones

The above headline should be "Some Live Ones," as these mentioned are not live ones by any manner of means. We do not see their names in this column this issue, but assume that they are somewhere else. We select a few at random, however, as we have space, and I see have not mentioned yet, that either or both of you may be at the head of the list.

Comrade Kuder of Pennsylvania sends a list of 27 and a list of 26 yearly subscriptions. Think you, comrade, we can get you many others will "report an effort" to-

Comrade Beezley of Nebraska sends a list of people to whom he has sent sample copies. Comrade Beezley, you're one of the kind we like to see. Keep this method of campaigning up. Send us a list of subscribers.

This is a good suggestion from Comrade Gaskell, of Kansas. Comrade Gaskell, you're all right. Keep [illegible]

Comrade Pfeiffer sends 50 cents for a bundle and postcards.

Comrade Snyder of New Jersey sends 50 cents for a bundle of our "best editions," which is a hard choice for us, as we have such a high average of all of our editions. So also have the comrades who are sending orders for bundles from all over the country.

If you hear music from Pennsylvania it may be some Socialist quartet. Comrade Lambing sends $1 for four copies of "Songs of Socialism." Make it a chorus before you quit, comrade.

Comrade Kent of Wisconsin sends 50 cents for a copy of the Campaign Songs and a bundle of assorted literature for distribution.

The Christian Socialist needs a live representative in every town and village in the United States and Canada. Comrade Reader, will you be "it" in your neighborhood? The paper above all else needs subscribers, and more subscribers, in order to do its necessary work, which no other paper is doing or can do.

Wm. H. Watts.

DO YOU WANT A JOB?

Comrade, are you out of a job? If so, don't sit around and grumble at the cruelty of the capitalist system. Make a job for yourself by trying to change it.

Take a small satchel and load it with 5 and 10 cent books, such as Francis E. Willard's "Astonishment of Socialism," "The A B C of Socialism," by Harvey P. Moyer; "A Christian View of Socialism," by Gen. H. Sarobell; "The Religion of the Working Class," by Rev. Chas. Stelzle; "Christian Economics for Socialists and Socialism," by Rev. Carl D. I. In connection with a sojourn for rest; and lessons of responsibility of consecration. V. 24.

2. Attracting the needy and suffering, regardless of race or nationality. Vs. 25-26.

3. Testing the faith of the ignorant by intercession of personal publicity. Vs. 27-28.

4. Rewarding intercessional faith by international helpfulness. Vs. 29-30.

1. To representative of a foreign power. Vs. 5-6.

2. In response to a belief greater than that of those long used to the forms of faith. Vs. 8-10, 13.

3. Foreshadowing the time when ancient lines of demarcation shall be obliterated, and those who have been true to the ancient teachings, while those who have heard but heeded not shall be cast out. Vs. 11-12.

As noted in the comments on previous lessons, the psychological significance of the Life of Love manifested in every way to set forth, every lesson is a psychological manifestation of Life, as within the consciousness of the healing practitioner, of the various forms of life in the world, with their diseases, problems and difficulties which in helpless, sinning or suffering humanity hope and help to find. We have heretofore set in deserts and wilderness and in the shadow of death. In most countries and peoples the psychological light has penetrated the spiritual light; and whatever New Psychology is producing, and however materialistically such may be interpreted by the Science of Mind, Christian and the Unity of Spirit, as well as the New Psy-
